Allison has posed a memory test, which I'm passing on to see if this rings any bells with anyone. Please let me and her know if you recall this case.

Subject: Looking for an OLD Stormwater Case

Hi Steve,

I'm trying to track down an administrative case that was filed sometime around 4/2000. It was against a facility called "Super Salvage," located in Washington, DC. And was a part of a larger stormwater initiative in the Anacostia. Do you recall who may have worked on this? I want to get a handle on what the specific violations were and how they were resolved. Thanks!

Allison
